

21st June 2019

Dear Parents and Carers,

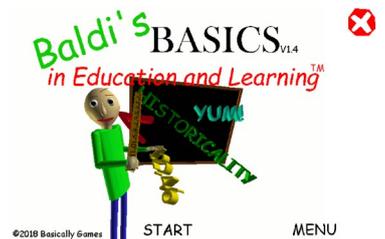

It has been a good week and now the sun is shining too!

This week, I have been busy visiting every class and have enjoyed watching our children learn. I am really impressed by the positive attitude and behaviour for learning that the children show. Well done to everyone!

Today we had a fire drill—everyone followed the procedure well and behaved sensibly.

E-Safety

We have been told about a game on the internet call 'Baldi's Basics'. The game involves children answering simple questions and if they get the question wrong, the teacher chases them and hits them with a yellow ruler. This is not an educational game. It creates a fear of getting things wrong and it doesn't show the child how to correct the answer. Please be aware of this game—and prevent your children from playing on it.

Fundayz

From September, it will no longer be possible to accommodate Fundayz in the school hall. This space is needed for sports clubs and meetings.

I know that Ms Ali will have informed parents about this. We recommend that you refer to the Oldham Council website if you need information about after school care.

A huge thank you to Fundayz for the support given to our families.

Shakespeare Festival

Alt will be taking part in the Oldham Shakespeare festival again this year. Da Vinci class have been working hard on The Tempest, which they will be performing alongside other Trust schools at the Coliseum, Oldham on Wednesday 10th July at 6pm.

Tickets are available from school, priced £5 adult, children are free.

It would be great to see you there supporting our children.

We had 'Explore Learning' come into school to work with middle school. The children wrote stories about how to save the environment. In addition to this, they all entered a writing competition and Aroush from Da Vinci class won overall in the Oldham area.

Amazing work from Aroush, well done!
